MORMON RELIGION.

Opinion that it will Survive if Purged of Its Present Impurities.

Two Instructive Reports on the Subject Presented by a Committee.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The annual report of the Utah commission has been received by Secretary Noble.

Touching the question of polygamy, the report says: Polygamy is not at the present time openly practiced, except perhaps in a few remote and out-of-the-way places, but the non-Mormon element insists that plural marriages are solemnized clandestinely and practiced secretly in the larger centres and throughout the territory. This may or may not be true. The commission neither affirms nor denies this in the absence of positive evidence. Doubtless many members of the Mormon church never have practiced and never intend to practice polygamy, and perhaps many of them do not believe in the practice, but from the standpoint of their faith and creed they accept it as a revelation from God, through the prophet seer and revelator, Joseph Smith, ratified and approved by the great president, Brigham Young, and that whoever desires to do so should have the right to comply with this ordinance of the church.

All laws forbidding the practice of polygamy, the report continues, the Mormons pronounce unconstitutional. There are grounds for the belief, it is stated, that by the church as a saving ordinance, and that those who practice it are assured of higher exaltation in heaven than those who content themselves with one wife.

Extracts are given from Mormon papers showing that they still openly advocate polygamy. That the teachings and practice of polygamy have not been discontinued, as claimed by some, is proven, the report says, by the fact that since September 1, 1888, there have been in the territory of Utah 337 convictions for bigamy, adultery, fornication and unlawful cohabitation; only two for bigamy. If plural marriages are now celebrated, says the report, it is done in secret chambers of the temple. If polygamy is practiced it is with the secrecy with which the burglar guards his house-breaking and the thief his larcenies. Those who are convicted of polygamy regard themselves, and are regarded by their friends, as martyrs, and think it no disgrace to be sent to the penitentiary. The courts are commended for their vigilance, and also for the mercy with which their mandates are tempered.

SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED.

The commission, in view of the present condition of the territory as regards polygamy, does not think Utah should be admitted as a state. Should it be, the commission says, it would not be long before the Gentile element, with its advanced civilization, its trade and traffic, would be driven from the territory and Mormon theocracy be made supreme.

The commission makes a number of recommendations, among them that the jurisdiction of all polygamous and sexual offenders, without regard to the place committed within the territory, be conferred on the district courts; that the term of imprisonment for unlawful cohabitation be extended to at least two years for the first and three years for the second, that it may be made a penal offence for women to enter into the marriage relation with any man, knowing him to have a wife living undivorced, covered, however, with the provision that in cases where a polygamous wife is called as a witness against her husband her testimony could not be used in any future prosecution against her, and a like provision as to the husband; that a person who refuses to take an oath that he or she is not cohabitating with more than one husband or wife in the marriage relation, as the case may be, shall be excluded from making location and settlement upon public lands; that the laws with reference to the immigration of Chinese and importation of contract labor, paupers and criminals be so amended as to

PREVENT THE IMMIGRATION

Of persons claiming that their religion justifies the crime of polygamy; that the constitution should be so amended as to further prohibit polygamy; that a law be enacted creating a board to consist of the governor and secretary of the territory to apportion Salt Lake City into aldermanic and councilmanic districts. It also recommends power to the commission, in its discretion, to cause to be made annually a new registration instead of revisions of former lists; that congress pass laws for the government and conduct of public schools in the territory of Utah; that as soon as the result of the eleventh census is known, the territory be redistricted for legislative purposes.

The commission believes that the limitation on prosecutions for polygamy and bigamy should be extended, and that sentence to hard labor should be added, that their confinement may not be spent in idleness and glorification of their supposed martyrdom.

The commission has no doubt that the punishment of women for voluntarily entering into the polygamous relation would do much to lessen her zeal for the peculiar institution, and thus tend to remove one of the strongest bulwarks.

PROHIBITION OF IMMIGRATION.

In regard to the prohibition of immigration, the report says: While we forbid the immigration of non-proselyting, peace-loving, docile Chinamen because we fear future danger from his coming; while we forbid the landing on our shores of contract laborers, because they cheapen the labor of American born citizens, and paupers, because they become a burden, there is far greater reason for closing our doors as a nation and forbidding citizenship to the hordes who are brought here to swell the ranks of the organized body, which teaches them in advance to hate our government, denominates its executive, law-makers, judges and prosecutors as persecutors, and instills into every mind the constant teaching that their pretended revelations are more binding than the highest and best laws of the land, and that resistance to such laws is a virtue and rendering of obedience to God. How far short of treason these teachings are we leave to those who can answer.

In concluding the report the commission says: Congress should take no backward or even wavering step in enforcing the law against polygamy.

A MINORITY REPORT.

John A. McClernand, of the Utah Commission, has submitted a minority report. The reason is non-concurrence in the report of his colleagues, particularly in the distinction between opinions and actions as subjects of legislative punishment.

The existing laws, he says, are working well. Further aggressive legislation trenching upon civil and political privileges would be injurious rather than beneficial. No religion was ever finally destroyed by either armed or unarmed proscription.

McClernand enters upon an extensive treatise showing the danger to be apprehended from trenching on the religious convictions of the people. He concludes by recommending an amendment to the federal constitution, perpetually prohibiting polygamy under whatsoever guise, not only in the states, but also in the territories and other places over which the United States have or may have exclusive jurisdiction. He dwells at length on the importance of this amendment, and says it would substitute a lasting organic act for a law of legislative enactment, which must cease to operate with the cessation of the anomalous territorial conditions.

The Mormon religion, he says, purged of its impurities, will probably survive, how long he cannot foresee. The ages of that fanaticism and fatuity, he concludes, which were conceived in the inquisition and racks, which burned Latimer at the stake, which inflicted the massacre of St. Bartholomew, and which drove the Puritans, Huguenots, Quakers and their co-devotees to the cause of freedom from their native lands to find a refuge in the new world and peopled it with teeming millions and bless it with republican principles and forms, these ages have passed away to revive their dark and intolerant spirit anew in the nineteenth century. This would add another proof and lament that the course of nations is not on straight lines, but in wayward circles, ending where they began and rebeginning where they ended.

THE COTTON RING COLLAPSES.

Liverpool, Oct. 1—The failure of the cotton corner surprised and disappointed Mr. Steenstrand and his associates, though the former made £50,000 out of it. Upon the course pursued by the spinners very largely depends the future position of the cotton markets. Their present plan is to stop their mills for a week or two, and this will further depress values. The bulk of the losses from the corner fall on continental bears, one large spinner in Alsace having lost £100,000.

CHAMBERLAIN TAUNTS THE HOME RULERS.

London, Oct. 1—Chamberlain, in a speech at Newcastle to-day, taunted the Home Rulers with avoiding a meeting with the dissidents to urge their claims. If they wanted to win, he asserted that they must not content themselves with proclaiming the dissidents traitors and renegades, but must show that the men who committed no faults except their inability within twenty-four hours to persuade themselves to do one man's bidding, and repudiate their previous principles, are wrong.

TALK OF A SUCCESSOR TO BISMARCK.

Cologne, Oct. 2—The Cologne Gazette ridicules the gossip about the appointment of a successor to Prince Bismarck. The chancellor, it says, is still powerful enough to protect his rights and defend himself against the attacks of unauthorized persons. No statesman or military man, it declares, has any idea of replacing Bismarck.

BUNCO STEERER CAUGHT.

New York, Oct. 2—Hiram G. Bells, a lawyer of St. John, N. B., was swindled out of $300 yesterday by a bunco man in a pretended horse sale. James Magelin, found in a stable, was arrested this morning and was remanded for trial.

THE TIMES' SPECIALS.

Our Great Provincial Fair—The Royal City in Holiday Attire.

Fatal Railway Accident—Wm. Montgomery Run Over and Killed.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—The Department of Agriculture has received advices that Asiatic cholera is epidemic and has obtained a foothold in southeastern Europe, Turkey, Greece and some parts of Hungary being affected. The march of this disease along the old route east furnishes a warning to all sanitary associations to be on the lookout for it, and Canada's increasing traffic between the east and Pacific ports should induce increased vigilance.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Ottawa, Oct. 2—John Stewart, of Ottawa, who recently secured a contract for the erection of a large barn on the Manitoba experimental farm, has been awarded the contract to erect a residence for the farm superintendent.

A WORD FOR CANADA.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Mr. Van Horne writes complimenting the Polson Iron Works Co., Toronto, on building the steamship Manitoba. The chief inspector and Mr. Beatty both agree that she is in every way the best steamship yet built on this side of the Atlantic and superior, in every particular, to our Clyde built boats Alberta and Athabasca.

O'CONNOR AT HOME.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—O'Connor, the oarsman, arrived here by the morning express from Montreal to-day. He will be given a banquet Thursday.

HEAVY SUITS.

Windsor, Oct. 2.—Dr. Aikman, of Windsor, by his attorney, Sol White, has commenced suits for false imprisonment against Judge Horne, Bailiff Masters and the county of Essex, demanding $50,000 in each case.

CRIMINAL.

Hamilton, Oct. 2.—Constable Hawkins, who shot the lunatic Douglas in a boarding house last week, is to be arraigned at the present assizes charged with murder.

ECCLESIASTICAL OPINION.

Montreal, Oct. 2.—Rev. Dr. Shaw, of the Protestant committee of the council of public instruction, was interviewed on the acceptance of the $6000. "I have only this to say," said he, "It is in the same ethical plane as the taking of any grant from the Quebec Legislature for any Protestant institution. If the Jesuit Estates' Act were unconstitutional we would be justified in obeying the mandates of the government. But surely the question is settled now. The money was certainly offered solely as a counterpart of the $40,000 endowment to the Roman Catholic church, but I think that the fact does not morally vitiate our acceptance of this amount."

THE EXHIBITION.

New Westminster in Holiday Attire—Success Assured.

Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Oct. 2.—The Royal City is welcoming her numerous visitors to-day in royal dress. The streets are tastefully decorated, the principal business thoroughfare being one long avenue of evergreens. A large arch of evergreens to which the finishing touches have yet to be given, spans its centre, and near the entrance to the park a permanent wooden arch has been constructed. The residents have taken up the work of decorating with enthusiasm. The result is that the city has a general holiday appearance.

The exhibition will be formally opened to-morrow at noon by Lieut.-Governor Nelson. The new building in the park is well adapted for the purpose, having ample space and well lighted. The grounds are well laid out, and considering the short time the committee had to do the work, they have accomplished wonders. The live stock are all on the ground and all kinds are well represented. Mr. Tolmie is the principal exhibitor of sheep and cattle from the island, and Messrs. Simpson and Carter show horses and fowls. This class will be judged this evening.

The display of fruit is very large and consists principally of apples. Roots are also excellent in both variety and size. There is only a small display of grain, but a very fair one of dairy products. In potted plants and flowers there is a superb display and it did not all come from Victoria either. The local manufacturers, especially the woolen mills and the soap works of Vancouver exhibit their products to good advantage and as new industries, demonstrating the possibilities of the province to manufacture for itself. In all the other departments there are creditable displays. The Secretary says the number of entries exceeds those at the Victoria exhibition last year. The weather is not favorable, alternating showers and sunshine depressing or raising the spirits of the citizens and visitors every half hour.

UNDER THE WHEELS.

Wm. Montgomery Run Over by a Train and Dies.

Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Oct. 2.—Brakeman Wm. Montgomery, while engaged in shunting cars in the yard here this morning, was thrown in front of a moving car, which passed over him. Both legs were cut off.

The unfortunate man was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where he now lies in a very precarious condition. He is about 25 years of age and was very popular among his acquaintances. He died at one this afternoon.

A GOVERNMENT'S CRIME.

The Quebec Slide Caused by the Federal Government's Bungling.

Quebec, Oct. 2.—There is a strong feeling of sympathy for the corporation here, as it did all in its power for the sufferers and is not blamable by Montreal and Toronto papers for its alleged neglect. But there were really some blunders made. One blunder committed was in the search for poor Kemp. His cries were heard in a certain part of the ruins and holes were repeatedly dug to get him out, but each time an overhanging mass of rubbish fell and filled the excavation. There was at one time on the ground a man named Verrault, a corporation foreman. He told the men: "You will not succeed in getting him out in that way. You must commence thirty feet away, at the very verge of the ruins and work your way gradually in." But the searchers were far too excited to heed the advice which his experience suggested, and after many vain attempts poor Kemp was given up for dead.

It is strange that the parties really responsible for the accident seem to have been lost sight of. The Ottawa government is to blame for what happened and will have to pay all damages. It is on their property that the rock fall took place nine years ago, and repeatedly since then they were warned of the danger. Their engineers came and inspected the rock and reported ten million tons of stone existed, as has been proved at the coroner's inquest. They placed two bolts and a half-inch chain, threw twenty-five barrels of clay into the crevice and built at the foot of the cliff a two-foot wall, which broke like glass under the falling mass.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES

Cameron and McLeod Matched to Wrestle for $1,000 Aside.

Articles of agreement were signed today at the Pritchard House, by W. G. Stevenson for D. H. Cameron, and D. S. McLeod, of Nanaimo, for himself, for a wrestling match, catch-as-catch-can, best two falls in three, for $1000 a side, the match to take place at Victoria in six weeks time, the winner to take seventy-five per cent of the gate receipts, and the loser twenty-five after deducting costs of advertising, etc. Two hundred dollars forfeit was deposited with THE TIMES this afternoon, and four hundred dollars are to be deposited in two weeks, and the balance the day before the match takes place. If the second deposit is not made the party failing to come to time forfeits the first. If a suitable referee can not be found here, it is agreed that either the California or Olympic Club, San Francisco, shall name the person, so that a square deal may be had all round. McLeod said to a reporter this afternoon that he was willing to wrestle Cameron "on a dunghill if he could get a square deal." That was all he wanted, and while he would prefer to have the match take place in Nanaimo, he had no objection to Victoria. The match, now that it has been arranged after so much talk, will no doubt be on its merits, as both men are "blooded," and it is safe to say that the best man will win.

WHY NOT ABOLISH COACHING?

The Hamilton Spectator makes the following timely remarks, with which the majority of ball-players and the public will heartily coincide: "Now that the baseball season is drawing to a close, the newspapers are full of advice for the future conduct of the game. There are many minor points in which the game could be changed to make it more interesting to the public. These changes should be in the direction of securing more hitting and more base running. But the two great reforms that are needed to make the game more popular are the abolition of kicking and coaching. No man, be he captain or private, should be allowed to dispute the umpire's decision. One captain—as has been shown this season on the Hamilton grounds—can kick until the spectators are too disgusted to remain in their seats. An umpire never alters his decision, and kicking is simply a waste of time that has grown disagreeable to baseball spectators. Coaching should be entirely done away with. As it is now done, it is intended only to rattle the pitcher and catcher. If coaching is allowed at all, the line cannot be drawn between legitimate coaching and shouting for another purpose. Coaching should, therefore, be entirely abolished. If the baseball managers decide to make these changes, they will make the game very much more interesting to the general public."

AQUATIC.

William Beach, the ex-champion sculler, had a narrow escape from drowning a few weeks ago. He was out rowing on the lake at Woolongoing, accompanied by his son, a lad of 14, when a squall capsized his boat. Beach had then to make for the shore, and though a capital swimmer, he was so hampered by the weight of his son that when he reached land he was considerably exhausted. The boy did not suffer nearly as much as the father.

In the Searle-O'Connor race the winner's time, 22 min. 42 sec., was the best time, considering the state of the tide, ever made.

O'CONNOR'S BACKER AT HOME.

Mr. Joseph Rogers and others of the Canadian contingent who went to London with O'Connor and his backer, returned home last week. In conversation with a reporter of the Toronto World Mr. Rogers expressed the opinion that O'Connor is a better man than Searle, though he was beaten fairly on Sept. 9. In fact, said he, Billy was not at himself at all. He was eight or nine pounds too light, weighing only 159 pounds. He was stale and had no speed whatever. The course and climate were also against him. The race was a poor one, too, neither man did any good rowing. Searle's confidence and bull head luck was what won. His style is anything but that of championship form. He rows very much like Wallace Ross, with a long sweeping stroke, and keeps "slugging" away. The truth of the matter is O'Connor was not O'Connor; in no part of the race could he row a bit. The choice of position was nothing against him, for if he could have rowed at all he could easily have secured the Surrey side. He was a beaten man before he got into his boat. "When I arrived in England," proceeded Mr. Rogers, "I saw that Billy was too light, although he kept telling me that he was ten pounds heavier than he really was. He received the best of attention, and no sculler could have been put through a better preparation than George Lee gave him, but Bill was over anxious and over did it. He was also coached the best in the race, but had no speed and was more like an over worked race horse.

"On still water I think that O'Connor can beat Searle and I offered to give Searle another race on any course in America. Of course it could not take place this season, but I think that after the Bubear-Matterson race, which takes place over the Thames course on Oct. 10th, Searle will return to Australia and come to America next summer. His backers intimated as much that Searle would surely visit America next season and give O'Connor another race."

The report that O'Connor rowed a fast trial a few days before the race, Mr. Rogers says, was untrue. "Do you think," said Mr. Rogers, "that I would allow him to row a trial like that when he was already too fine?"

Mr. Rogers says that upwards of a million people witnessed the race and over half a million dollars changed hands. The touts and Englishmen all backed O'Connor. I saw before they had gone fifty yards that O'Connor was beaten, but had no chance to "hedge" my money. Notwithstanding the result of the race I saw the St. Leger and backed Donovan.

O'Connor did not sail with us, but went to Ireland to see some friends. He will arrive home in about two weeks The prepared reception and dinner is therefore postponed indefinitely and the date will be announced as soon as word is received from O'Connor.

O'Connor will take a rest this winter and go at it again next season, when he hopes to meet Searle on American waters with a more favorable result.

Ex-Queen Natalie Practically Mistress of the Situation in Her Former Home.

The Proposed Danish Alliance—Why Emperor William Should Not Oppose It.

By Postal Telegraph.]

London, Oct. 2.—Special despatches from Belgrade says that ex-Queen Natalie is mistress of the situation. She has the sympathy of the population and the government of the Regency dare not expel her. What the Regents feared has come about. The ex-Queen has reestablished her control over the mind of her son, although she disavows making any political use of her influence in that direction.

Officials of the court, acting under instructions of the regency, keep Alexander under restraint. Natalie protests and insists upon her right as a mother to have access to her son when he or she desires to see each other. She also refuses to surrender her civil rights as a citizen of Servia, and will remain in Belgrade unless forcibly expelled.

MATTERS IN CRETE.

Vienna, Oct. 2.—The Austrian consul at Cameo, telegraphs that the rioting in Crete has been subdued and martial law has been forced only against murderers and rioters.

THE CHURCH CONGRESS.

The Archbishop of Canterbury's Remarks on the Welsh Church

London, Oct. 2—The church congress opened at Cardiff yesterday with Rt. Rev. Richard Lewis, D. D., Bishop of Llandaff, presiding. The programme upon which the congress is to proceed does not admit of any controversial question being raised in the course of its proceedings, and it specially prohibits any discussion of the subject of Welsh tithes. Notwithstanding this prohibition, however, both addresses of the president on the formal opening of congress and the sermon by the Archbishop of Canterbury contained strong flavoring of the Welsh church and the state controversy. The Archbishop of Canterbury in his remarks made an emphatic denial that the church in Wales is an alien church in its relation to England. He contended for the unity of the Welsh and English churches and declared they exerted that great influence which binds the two people together as one.

A DANISH ALLIANCE

And Why Germany Should be Glad to Cultivate It.

London, Oct. 1.—The alleged reluctance of the German Emperor to give his august approval to the marriage of his sister with the Crown Prince of Denmark is assumed for effect. Protestants are not so plentiful on the continent that there are many sprigs of royalty eligible for the hand of Princess Margaret. The condescending terms in which the German official press speak of the contemplated alliance are sufficiently amusing in view of the desirable position held by the northern power, which, if the marriage takes place may be in future considered as virtually, if not openly, bound to the destinies of Germany. As a maritime power producing a famous race of sailors and covering practically the German seaports, Denmark will be able to prove herself no despicable friend in the hour of need. It may be easily believed that the Czar is furious at the prospect, and in view of the ties which bind the Danish royal family to him, it will hardly be wise for the arrogant German monarch to display any real or pretended dislike to the match too openly.

SHOULD DECLARE HIMSELF.

To the Editor of The Times:

SIR,—The very large and flattering requisition presented to Mr. Thos. Earle asking him to allow himself to be placed in nomination for the vacant seat in the Dominion House of Commons, caused by the resignation of Mr. E. Crow Baker, is a document of which Mr. Earle may well feel proud on entering public life. But in acceding to the request of the requisitionists, Mr. Earle, for the first time in his career as a public man, is brought face to face with the task of harmonizing the various shades of opinion which may happen to conflict with his own on questions of public policy. It would appear that the four hundred and eighty signers of Mr. Earle's requisition judged of that gentleman's fitness to represent them by the abilities he has shown as a successful business man, and by his known allegiance to the government of Sir John A. Macdonald. To them this seemed all that was necessary to make up the tout ensemble of a representative to parliament. While they may feel disposed to support Mr. Earle's candidature on these grounds without any further reference to questions of policy, there are others, no doubt, who would like to have him proclaim his views specifically on some of the burning questions of the day—questions of paramount importance to this city, this province and to Canada. It is therefore to be hoped that Mr. Earle will publish an address at an early day, and declare himself fully on these matters, so that those who feel "independent" in the matter of choosing a representative will be in a position to decide whether it would be wise to give him their "independent" support, or oppose his candidature according as they might agree or differ with the stand which he proposes to take in regard to the policy of the government. HON. MR. TURNER AND THE SHIPPING LAWS.

To the Editor of The Times:

SIR,—The Colonist of this morning makes a correction without any evidence to substantiate it and which, if not contradicted, would lead the public to understand that the Hon. Mr. Turner did the only thing he could do under the circumstances and that there were no Canadian vessels to be had to handle the coasting trade of the country, or this business in particular. From the lack of interest taken by the Colonist, necessary to get at the real facts, it is evident that it is as mercenary in its actions as the Hon. Mr. Turner in his.

All statements made by it when its personal interests are at stake or when they come into conflict with the general interests or welfare of the country should be taken with a grain of salt.

Allowing the apparent excuse made by your contemporary, on the Hon. Mr. Turner's behalf, to be well founded, there exists no reason whatever why he should be permitted to break the law, (as it is admitted he has done) to the serious detriment of our shipping interests, and in direct violation of the regulations framed by the Dominion government for their protection.

The principle is the same, whether the salmon was to be delivered in Canada, the United States or Great Britain. Respectfully, JNO. IRVING.

DUTY ON SUGAR.

Regarding the duty on sugar, the Toronto Globe calls attention to the fact that the same class of sugar retailed in Great Britain at 2½ pence, or five cents a pound, is sold in Canada at 9½ cents. Every housekeeper in the Dominion could get her sugar fully four cents a pound cheaper than now if the restrictive sugar duty were abolished. She could get it about two cents a pound cheaper if the duties on sugar that accrue to the benefit of the public Treasury were retained, and the duties that accrue to the sole benefit of the sugar barons were wiped out.

These latter duties were imposed on the pretence that they would cause the refiners to give steady work to the men in their employment. The Montreal refinery has been closed for two months, but the pockets of its owners are not closed to the stream of dollars wrung from the necessaries of self-support ing taxpayers. Having accumulated a stock sufficient to supply grocers for a considerable period, having arranged with the government for the exclusion of cheaper and better British sugar, our lords, the refiners, rake in the shekels without employing anybody and without a particle of bother to themselves. They toil not, neither do they spin, yet JAY GOULD, with all his energy, had never a softer snap than these.

The Globe estimates that "continental free trade" would add about $100,000,000 to the annual income of Ontario's great producing interests; twenty per cent. to the value of stock; ten cents a bushel on barley, and as much to each pound of wool; fully fifteen per cent. to city property, and a large percentage to the wages of mechanics.

CHEAPER SLEEP.

A bill has been presented in the Georgia legislature, at the instigation of the Travelers' Association, limiting sleeping car rates to $1 for 100 miles, for a lower berth, and 75 cents for an upper berth. The reduction of rates, comments the Seattle Evening Press, "would almost certainly be followed by a deterioration in the quality of the accommodations furnished, and therefore it is not likely that the travelling public would favor it after having been accustomed to the present style of accommodations. A reduction of the rates would also cause the sleepers to be used by a kind of patrons whose company would be distasteful to those who now patronize them, and are content to pay a higher price in order to shield themselves from such company. The tendency in traveling is towards obtaining the largest possible degree of comfort at any cost rather than towards increasing the discomforts at a comparatively slight saving.

The direction in which reform is needed in the management of sleeping cars is the abolition of the tipping system. When a passenger pays for a berth, he pays for the attendance of a porter also, and yet the custom of tipping has grown until it has become an unwritten law. If a passenger who objects to paying twice for the porter's services, desires to insist on proper attention, the only way in which he can obtain what he wishes is by "kicking." A majority of men will put up with a good deal before they will "kick," and the proprietor of the cars ought to save them this disagreeable necessity. They ought to forbid their employees to receive tips, and punish with instant dismissal any employee who breaks this rule. Only in this way can this imported custom of tipping be rooted out."

RUSSIA'S "TEN COMMANDMENTS."

The London Times, discussing the Balkan States and Russia's "Ten Commandments," does not find for peace, and that on the score of the different nationalities which make up the body of the Austrian empire. These different nationalities of which the empire is composed are "constantly liable to forget permanent and common dangers in order to enjoy the luxury of thwarting and injuring one another." "The furious jealousy existing between the Germans and Hungarians throws tremendous obstacles in the way of good and strong government, yet both these races are intellectually upon a level, which the smaller nationalities will not reach for many a day."

It seems impossible by the most liberal concessions to disarm these race hatreds; nay, they appear absolutely to flourish upon the very arrangements that destroy the grievances upon which they are ostensibly based. The Poles, for example, have obtained every political concession compatable with their inclusion in the Empire, but they are as far as ever from exhibiting that "union of hearts" about which some of our own politicians are fond of talking. Indeed, the very fact that they have got all they can demand or hope for is twisted into an argument for separation, and made to foster the dream of obtaining from the grace of Russia some visionary reconstruction of a Polish kingdom.

As to Russia's Ten Commandments it is but fair to state for the benefit of the uninitiated that they are a comprehensive summary of Pan Slavonic ideas and designs, appropriately displaying that complete indifference to practical obstacles which is the privilege of enthusiasts. The general scheme is that the different independent States carved out of the Turkish Empire are to be enlarged by the appropriation of territory which does not at present belong to them, and are to show their gratitude to Russia for her gifts by placing themselves and their acquisitions unreservedly at her disposal. Roumania is to have Transylvania and a slice of Southern Hungary. Other Hungarian districts, together with Bosnia, are to be handed over to Servia, and the throne of that country is to be offered to the PRINCE of MONTENEGRO. Bulgaria gets nothing, Russia takes Galicia and undertakes to look after the interests of the orthodox church, by peremptorily ending the Catholic propaganda. Although this scheme is a little wild the Times concludes that the condition of religious bigotry among these states is so pronounced as to admit of its being carried into effect. The Ten Commandments, however, are not officially authorized by the Russian Government.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

An Italian savant, Dr. MALINCONICO, of Naples, pretends to have discovered something better yet than the elixir of Prof. BROWN-SEQUARD. He has just discovered the microbe of old age, and he is now engaged in thinking about the best way to kill him. When one thinks of the length of time that this hoary-headed old microbe has been in concealment the value of Dr. MALINCONICO's discovery can be easily appreciated.

It is said that Prince EDWARD of Wales is responsible for the masher collar which is worn by the jeunesse doree, what ever that means. LABOUCHERE remarks that if such be the case he cannot congratulate him, and suggests that he turn his attention to hats. Can anything, says the iconoclastic editor of the Truth, be more inconvenient than the "chimney pot." No sooner does a man leave London than he eschews it for something that covers his head without destroying all comfort. Why, then, should it maintain its sway from generation to generation in London? We have recently voted to his Royal Highness a very handsome allowance. He owes us a return, and if this return were to relieve us from the tyranny of the chimney-pot, he would at least prove that he is grateful.

A Montreal Dogberry has sentenced six stowaways to two months' hard labor. "Hunger," said the six victims of Montreal justice, "drove us across the water, where we expected to find ample opportunity to make an honest living which was impossible for us in the north of Ireland." Although this defense is more pathetic than probable, for certainly there must be some means of making an honest living in the north of Ireland, the law which punishes stowaways to imprisonment with hard labor is vicious and ought to be repealed. Should men who are seeking greener fields and pastures new though their methods are not calculated to increase the dividends of the DONALDSON Steamship Company, be treated as felons? Montreal from all we can learn is one of those delectable spots where justice has degenerated into injustice. Another Tibbetts case and Montreal's reputation is made.

Lord SALISBURY has now a Cabinet of seventeen, which will be reduced to sixteen by the retirement of the Duke of Rutland. The Marquis WELLESLEY once expressed an opinion, during some Ministerial negotiations, that a Cabinet ought not to exceed twelve, and Sir ROBERT PEEL repeatedly asserted his conviction that large Cabinets are fatal to all the peculiar qualities which such a body ought to possess. The fact is that there is now always an inner Cabinet, which really governs the country. Lord MELBOURNE had a Cabinet of fourteen, but, for all practical purposes, it consisted of himself and Lord PALMERSTON. Sir ROBERT PEEL was always supreme, and so was Mr. GLADSTONE, while Lord BEACONSFIELD and Lord SALISBURY were the ruling members of the last Tory administration, and at present Mr. BALFOUR and Mr. GOSCHEN are the only two members of the Cabinet with whom the Prime Minister consults on affairs of moment.

Massachusetts has a high license law. It has been in force only three months, but from reports made by the Boston Advertiser the results of its operation in the sixteen license cities of the State have been beneficial and encouraging. It has reduced the number of saloons in ten cities named from 3022 to 1257, or a decrease of 58 per cent. The revenue from licenses has at the same time grown from $1,097,706 to $1,418,425, or an increase of 32 per cent. The law allows prohibition wherever public sentiment authorizes it, and when it does not the traffic is restricted by severe regulations and by high license fees. An objection to high license is the fact that it promotes the establishment of showy and attractive saloons. But low license with a reduced number of drinking places is not less effectual in that direction. At all events, the less a man pays for his license the larger the balance to be invested in tavern millinery.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—with the ordinary ungents, lotions and salves. They are oftentimes inflammatory and astringent. This oil is, on the contrary, eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain, and powerfully remedial when swallowed.

—Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren county, N. Y., writes: "She has been troubled with asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agent among her neighbors."

A Warning to Hotel Keepers.

Hotel proprietors throughout the Dominion are trembling in the presence of bankruptcy. Napoleon Michel, a boarder at a hotel in Sherbrooke, Quebec recently attacked a piece of steak which resisted the action of his teeth and jaws so successfully that in attempting to swallow it he was choked to death, and now his widow comes forward with an action for damages which she assesses at $10,000. If the hotel men of the country had as much faulty to ward each other as gamblers have for their craftsmen, this man would not lack for attorney's fees which would enable him to prove the unfortunate boarder a glutton, who did not take sufficient time to masticate his food before attempting to swallow it. As no such disposition has been shown, however, the result of this suit is anxiously awaited.

REQUISITION

To THOMAS EARLE, Esq.

DEAR SIR:

As E. CROW BAKER, Esq., M. P., has resigned his seat in the Dominion House of Commons, we, the undersigned electors of Victoria City and District, beg you to allow yourself to be placed in nomination as a candidate for the vacant seat.

We do this because we feel that at the present time it is imperative that Victoria should have the best man that can possibly be got to look after her interests; and as your business capacity, your large interests here, and your general fitness for the position, are so well known to us, we hereby pledge you our hearty support if an election is necessary.

Certificate of Incorporation.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, HEREBY CERtify that we desire to form, under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1878, (Provincial), and amending Acts, a Company as hereinafter mentioned.

1. The corporate name of the Company shall be The Pacific Shoe and Leather Company, Limited Liability."

2. The objects for which the Company is formed are:—To conduct a general tanning, leather, boot and shoe manufacturing business, and to carry on a general trading business, and to purchase and hold and sell real and personal estate for the purposes of the Company, and generally the doing of such acts as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the objects of the Company.

3. The amount of the capital stock of the Company shall be one hundred thousand dollars, divided it to one thousand shares of one hundred dollars each.

4. The time of the existence of the Company shall be thirty years.

5. The number of the Trustees shall be three, and their names are William Smyth, Stephen Fulton McIntosh, and Arthur Heathern, who shall manage the affairs for the first three months.

6. The principal place of business of the Company shall be in the City of Victoria.

7. A stockholder shall not be individually liable for the debts or liabilities of the Company, but the liability of a stockholder shall be limited to his proportion (based upon the amount of his respective shares) of assessments legally levied, and the charges thereon, if advertised as delinquent during the time that he is a shareholder, upon a share or shares of which he is the holder, as shown by the stockholders' register book of the Company; assessments and charges thereon, when taken collectively, shall not exceed in the aggregate the value in dollars printed or shown upon each share when issued.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and seals at the City of Victoria aforesaid, the 15th day of August, A. D. 1889.

THE GREAT INTERIOR.

Ladies Play Baseball—General Mining Notes.

From the Kootenay Star.]

Nelson is enjoying a building boom.

A Frenchman near Revelstoke claims to have discovered perpetual motion.

The people of West Kootenay are indignant at the provincial government not commencing the wagon road this year.

The Little Donald and Spokane mines have struck a vein of good ore two feet wide. The other mines are all looking well.

Rumors have been circulated that the necessity for a bridge across the Columbia at Revelstoke will be met by the C. P. R. putting their bridge in shape for business traffic and that tolls will be charged for crossing it.

A baseball game was played at a picnic of Revelstoke people, Americans vs Canadians, and no better exhibition of ball playing has been seen in the country—not even at Kamloops. The pitching of Miss E Valentine and Mrs. Dickie was superb, and as a catcher Guy Barber "takes the cake." After six well contested innings the game was won by the Canadians. Score 62 to 13.

Fred Pecord, for M. E. Johnson, of Victoria, went north last week to stake out, it is said, all the ground on McCulloch creek above the claim of the Last Chance company. If this is done for the purpose of speculation and not for working at once in a legitimate way, it will be protested against by bona-fide miners, and will probably not be allowed by the Judge.

LEARNED IN THE LAW.

Robert Burdette Reports the Proceedings in a Famous Case.

An Old Man found a Rude Boy up one one of his apple trees and desired the young marauder to come down, speaking to him with pleasant words which are sweeter than the honeycomb. "I prefer to remain in the Band-wagon," replied the Boy, who held the Ace. The Old Man then threatened him with personal violence, but the young scapegrace told him to go to grass, as it was written in the Spelling-book. "Then," said the Old Man, whose patience was soon gone, "I will visit you with the extreme penalty of the law." Whereupon the saucebox tauntingly told him to go ahead and draw his bill, and he would soon see how much meat there was on a woodchuck in December. The Old Man, nothing loath, at once engaged the services of an Able and Learned Lawyer, who was also a jurist, and was distinguished in the columns of the local press for his matchless Forensic Eloquence; while on his part the Rude Boy, by pledging a portion of the fruit of the Tree which he occupied, was able to secure for the defence a Pure-minded and Honorable Counsellor, whose fair fame as an Attorney and spotless reputation as a High-minded Advocate had never been called into question save by those who had dealings with him. The Old Man, who was Rightful Owner and was possessed of the Tree by Descent, Purchase, Escheat, Alienation, and Forfeiture, had his claim strengthened by his Lawyer, who put in additional claims as Riparian Owner, Freeholder, Tenant by Courtesy and Right of Discovery. In re the Defendant, the Rude Boy, merely put in a Claim of Naked Possession and claimed Title by Occupancy. The Old Man went for him on writs of Ouster, Trespass, Waste, and Subtraction, to which the R. B. replied by charging Disturbance of Tenure. The case was called and put off, and set down and adjourned; it was referred to the Master to take Proof; it was postponed, decided and carried up; it was reversed and remanded; it was stricken from the Docket with leave to reinstate, and withdrawn with leave to amend; it was argued in Chambers and surcharged for rejoinder, and was just on the point of being rebutted for demurrer in Trover with misprision of alimony when the Old Man died, without issue, leaving the Rude Boy in possession. His own Attorney, however, requested him to come down, to which the Boy replied that he had learned a little law himself by this time; whereupon the Advocate, reminding him that "a little learning was a dangerous thing," took a large-sized Rock of irregular shape from his pocket, knocked the Boy clear out of the orchard at the first shot and assumed Possession of Villainage. "My name is Dennis," cried the Dying Boy; "but I wonder why the Old Man didn't do that?" "Because," replied the High-minded Advocate, "he had a chump of a Lawyer who didn't know how to play the winning cards when he held them." So saying he took off all his client's clothes, examined his teeth to see if they were filled, and sold the Cadaver to a medical student, with the right of reversion of the bones to himself after the student got through with him. Thus do we see that it is easy enough to make an honest living at the practice of the theory of law, if you only know how to put the kink in the lariat.

Forest Restoration.

Systematic planting on a national scale must wait, and will be sure to wait, until the little remnant of our forests shall be administered economically, and at such a profit on costs of exportation as will justify the outlay required to cover costs of replanting, but meantime millions of acres of denuded forest land may be preserved from the destruction of its soil by fire, or its erosion by water, for the trifling cost of collecting and scattering the seed over their surface. The winds and the birds annually redeem thousands of acres in this way, and we need only open our eyes to the importance of their labors to realize how much may be done in the same way by systematic, intelligent effort.—Forest and Stream.

Testing Diamonds.

It doesn't require an expert to tell whether a diamond is genuine or not. The test is very simple, and can be made in any place and in a moment. All you need is a piece of paper and a lead pencil. With the latter make a small dot on the paper, then look at it through the diamond. If you can see but one dot you can depend upon it that the stone is genuine, but if the mark is scattered, or shows more than one, you will be perfectly safe in refusing to pay ten cents for a stone that may be offered you at $500. A blue stone may be tested by a bath in alcohol. Many yellow stones are made blue by an application of analine, and this is overcome by the alcohol.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The English Sparrow.

For some reason the English sparrow was not as plentiful last year as it had been, and his ravages were not as notable. It was thought that the millions that perished in the blizzard of the early part of the year accounted for the check. But 1889 brings the rascal to the front everywhere. The United States commissioner of agriculture recommends a method of poisoning them with wheat soaked in an arsenical mixture. In England this means is generally resorted to. The poison is distributed along highways where sparrows resort and where other birds are not liable to pick up the poisoned material. No greater pest to agriculture exists in the world than this pugnacious bird; all the worse, as birds in general are our best friends.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

An Object Lesson.

"Don't write there," said one to a lad who was scratching with a diamond pin on a pane of glass in the window of a hotel.

"Why not?"

"Because you can't rub it out."

There are other things we should not do for the same reason—because we cannot rub them out. This person is lonely, depressed, in sorrow, and needs sympathy. Instead, a cold word, a heartless word is spoken. An impression is made which is more durable than that of a diamond on glass. Break the glass and that disappears. But this may last forever. Be careful what you write on the mind and heart of those you meet.—Clergyman in St. Louis Republic.

"Fishin' Jimmy."

A short, simple story, pathetically told, is Annie Slosson Trumbull's "Fishin' Jimmy." "Fishin' Jimmy" was a quaint, old White Mountain character, passionately fond of fishing, keenly sensitive to the beauties of nature and thoroughly "good hearted," which is another term for lovable. "To his simple intellect the fisherman's art was a whole system of morality, a guide for everyday life, an education and a gospel. It was all any poor mortal man, woman or child needed in this world to make him or her happy, useful and good." The old man is "converted" by a "fishing preacher," and finds great comfort in the fact that the disciples were selected from among fishermen.

"When he was a choosin' the men to go about with him an' help him an' larn his ways so's to come a'ter him, he first o' all picked out the men he'd seen every day fishin', and mebbe fished with hisself; for he knowed 'em, and knowed he could trust 'em."

The poor old man meets with a tragic ending to his simple, picturesque life, but his faith and his ruling passion stand out clear until he is half across the dark stream between this life and the next.—New York Star.

A Drowned Man's Shirt.

August Melching was drowned in the Codorus creek while swimming. His body could not be found for some time, when one of the searchers suggested that his shirt be thrown into the water, claiming that it would float to where the body was. The suggestion was acted on and the garment thrown into the water where it was thought that he had disappeared. It instantly shot out, then stopped, circled about a short time and in another moment disappeared under the water.

A young man present on the creek's bank then dived to where the shirt was seen to sink and found the body of the young man where the shirt had disappeared. The singularity of the incident consists in the fact that the shirt was found clinging to the dead man's body. Two gentlemen who were on opposite sides of the creek at the time this occurred corroborate the truthfulness of the incident. This gives credence to the ancient idea that the clothing of a drowned man when thrown into the water will float to the body.—York (Pa.) Cor. Philadelphia Inquirer.

Bashful Originality.

An unpremeditated and bashful compliment is often the most flattering. A young lady, who had gone to spend a summer with some country relatives, found it difficult to get on with one cousin, a boy of 16, who was so shy that any chance remark directed to him served to plunge him into dire embarrassment.

One morning she proposed driving to town with him, and on the way the conversation waxed quite flourishing—at least, on one side. Presently a pause ensued, and the young lady became aware that her companion had turned and was regarding her hair, which was of the closely curling variety, lying in small, deep waves.

"I like your hair!" he announced, suddenly, as if determined to speak his mind, let what would come of it.

"Why?" she asked.

"Because it's so full of them little jerks!"—Youth's Companion.

To Be Seen, Not Imitated.

Much as we all admire the play of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," is there not a wondrous dearth of small boys who would like to be like Little Lord Fauntleroy? We have talked with a number of little fellows about it, and all have agreed that they couldn't be induced to wear their hair long, to wear a girl's hat with a plume in it, and to wear an enormous silk sash. The play interests all the boys, but when it comes to introducing the salient features of Little Lord Fauntleroy's career into their own lives—that is quite another thing, and the boys will have none of it. And we do not blame them.—Chicago News.

ap15-tf Auctioneer.

SEALED TENDERS ADDRESSED TO THE undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Officers' Quarters, Victoria, B. C.," will be received until Monday, 14th October, 1889, for the several works required in the erection of Officers' Quarters, Victoria, B. C.

Specifications can be seen at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, and at the office of F. C. Gamble, Esq., Victoria, B. C., on and after Monday, 23rd September, 1889, and tenders will not be considered unless made on form supplied and signed with actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, equal to five per cent. of amount of tender, must accompany each tender. This cheque will be forfeited if the party decline the contract, or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

A. GOBEIL, Secretary.

POLICE COURT.

[Before Hon. A. N. Richards, Q. C.]

James Peat, charged with committing an aggravated assault on Annie, a Nit-Nat Indian, pleaded not guilty.

Mr. A. L. Belyea appeared for the defendant and asked if this was a private or police prosecution, because if it was a private prosecution he objected to the chief of police appearing in it.

His honor remarked that if he gave way to this objection he would have to shut up court.

Chief Sheppard said this was an objection that had not been raised for twenty-seven years. Chief Sheppard then said he would have to ask an adjournment as he could get no interpreter, unless he interpreted himself.

"Will they allow that?" asked his honor, looking at the counsel and defendant.

"It's hardly likely I will allow the prosecuting attorney, Chief Sheppard, to act as interpreter," said Attorney Belyea with a bland smile.

An interpreter was finally procured from the crowd without the rail and the case proceeded, and Annie was brought forward.

"Ask her if she knows anything about God," said his honor to the interpreter.

"Halo," said Annie, and "no" said the interpreter after asking her the question.

"Ask her if she knows anything of a future state," said the magistrate.

"Halo," again said Annie, and she was then cautioned to tell only the truth.

After hearing the evidence of the complainant, his honor adjourned the case for a week.

D. S. McLeod will leave for Nanaimo in the morning to go into training for his forthcoming bout with Cameron.

Its Excellent Qualities

Commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels it cleanses the system effectually, thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Hymeneal.

William Duck, son of Simeon Duck, M.P.P., and Miss Ada North will be united in marriage this evening at the residence of the bride's parents.

Purchased Coal Lands.

It is stated that the New Vancouver Coal Company effected the purchase of 3000 acres of coal land in the Cedar District on Saturday.

Real Estate Sales.

During the past few days Mr. J. J. Austin has disposed of two lots on the south side of Pandora avenue, above Vancouver street, at the rate of $800 per lot. The lots are assessed at the above value also.

Drawing To-Night.

The Victoria Building Society will hold their eighth drawing for an appropriation, at Harmony Hall, View street, at eight o'clock this evening. The public is invited and a full attendance of members requested.

To a Higher Court.

A number of property owners who recently appealed to the court of revision for a reduction either on land values or improvements, feel dissatisfied with the decisions in their particular cases and intend taking the matter before a Supreme court justice.

Almost Impassable.

D. G. McDonald arrived from Sooke Lake yesterday afternoon. He reports the road in a terrible condition, trees having fallen across it in many places and culverts washed away, especially near the lake. Mr. McDonald was forced to cut his way through. He met Mr. Healey, of Sooke Lake, who was also cutting his way out.

Steamer Movements.

The Yosemite arrived down from Vancouver at 10:30 last night. Owing to a washout on the line of the C. P. R., she brought down neither freight or passengers. She left again at 4 o'clock this morning for Vancouver.

The Princess Louise left for New Westminster at 7 o'clock this morning with a large number of visitors to the New Westminster exhibition.

An Absent Opinion.

Ald. Harrison left for Portland this morning, accompanied by Mrs. Harrison When asked yesterday about the iniquitous tax of nearly $6000 imposed on the city by the government, he said "if he thought the balance of the aldermen wouldn't fight against it to-night he would have stayed over. He considered it an unjust tax and would fight it to the end. He did not know where the money would come from if it had to be paid, unless the rate of taxation was raised to 1¼ per cent."

An Appeal.

Steward Garland, of the Royal Hospital, acknowledges with thanks a quantity of exceedingly fine fruit and vegetables from the ladies of Christ Church Cathedral. Contributions of this sort are highly prized by the suffering inmates, and those who have an abundance will be gratefully remembered for contributions of anything in the way of food or wearing apparel, linen, etc. The Royal Hospital is one of our worthiest institutions; its management is conservative and the power to do good for the afflicted is unbounded.

Inland Revenue.

The inland revenue receipts for the month of September, 1889, for this city, otherwise known as division 37, are as follows:

Spirits	$7,164 94
Malt	1,420 72
Tobacco	2,386 40
Cigars	1,144 50
Petroleum inspection	349 50
Total	$12,466 06
For September, 1888	8,487 95
Increase	$3,978 11

"Margery Daw."

Despite the inclemency of the weather last night, a full house greeted Patti Rosa in her new musical comedy, "Margery Daw." Of course the centre of attraction was Patti Rosa herself, and her bright repartee and the excellent rendering of the songs which she sang, put her at once in touch with her auditors and storm after storm of applause was showered upon the bright little comedienne. Her support was good, and taken altogether the first rendering of "Margery Daw" to a Victoria audience was a pronounced success.

To night "Margery Daw" will be repeated and new songs, duets, trios, medleys, banjo solos and dances will be introduced.

A Police Court Incident.

"Hats off in court!" shouted an officer in the police court this morning, as His Honor entered. Two Siwashes, who were standing without the rail which separates the "washed," represented by counsel, policemen, prisoners, witnesses, and reporters, and the "unwashed," which includes the throng of spectators who daily visit the hall of justice—especially when anything sensational is expected—at this moment looked round, and seeing the lynx eyes of a policeman fixed upon them, dropped down on their knees, their hands on the rail as if they were about to offer up supplications. The hats were removed but the patient aborigines watched the case, in which Annie, a klootchman, was the prosecutor, until it closed.

In Hard Lines.

United States Marshal Hamilton arrived over from Seattle on the steamer North Pacific on Monday evening with a Chinaman named Ah Tsam. Tsam was arrested last week on the Sound charged with selling liquor to Indians. Upon being examined it turned out that he had smuggled himself across the line from this province in the disguise of an Indian. It was thought that his once being a resident of this province entitled him to be brought back without payment of the $50 head money, and for that reason Marshal Hamilton brought him over. The authorities here viewed the matter in a different light and demanded the $50 tax. Not being forthcoming, the marshal was obliged to take Ah Tsam back yesterday morning, where he will now be confined in the penitentiary on McNeil's island.

Arrival of the Glad Tidings.

The missionary steamer Glad Tidings, with Rev. Mr. Crosby, Superintendent of Glad Tidings Mission, and Mr. and Mrs Robinson of Kitamat, arrived at Nanaimo yesterday from Port Simpson en route for Victoria. The Glad Tidings towed down from Cape Mudge the large canoe containing Mr. Wood and his survey party, who have been engaged in surveying timber claims for the Royal City Planing Mills Company.

The Glad Tidings left Fort Simpson on Sept. 17th, calling at Inverness, Douglas Channel, North and South Bentinck Arm, Bella Coola, Rivers Inlet, and the logging camps among the islands. The weather has been very wet up north, but at Queen Charlotte Islands they ran into good weather. Mrs. Crosby and family and Miss Knight were brought down to Bella Coola on a visit.

Rev. T. Crosby had just returned from a 200 mile canoe trip up the Skeena River some distance beyond the Forks. He reports everything quiet among the Indians in that section. The Indians and whites were expecting a visit from the Hon. Mr. Dewdney, Minister of the Interior. The canneries are unable to complete their packing until they procure the necessary lumber to make boxes. Everything is very quiet along the coast.

THE REWARD OF VIRTUE.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE'S DICTUM.

The Absurdity of the "Special School Tax" Discussed.

The decision rendered by the Chief Justice at Victoria yesterday, the particulars of which appear in another column, says the Free Press, indicates that so far as he is concerned the exaction is fair, equitable and legal. For the present the people will have to accept the Chief Justice's dictum as the propounding of the local statute under which the residents of incorporated cities are called upon to pay one-third of the teachers' salaries But there is one portion of the judgment that the Free Press feels compelled to join issue with the wearer of the ermine, and that is that the impost "is not a discriminatory tax because it is borne alike by all cities of the province." If that argument is correct then it is open to the parliament to carry the principle still further, and call upon the unfortunate residents of the cities to pay $5 or $10 provincial revenue tax, while those residing outside of corporate limits are only taxed in $3 per annum. Carry the argument still higher and the Dominion parliament would be at liberty to enact $2.50 customs duty per barrel on flour consumed by residents of cities, while those residing in the suburbs would get their staff of life in at the present rate of fifty cents per barrel. The Free Press from the inception of this measure has contended that the tax is a discriminatory one, for it does not tax the citizens of the province alike, but divides them into classes and says to the people of the cities you shall pay to the provincial treasury an equivalent of $5 per head while your fellow subjects who are breathing the pure air of the country shall only pay $3 per capita. The statute is a provincial one and must be looked at from a provincial standpoint. That being the case then to make taxation equal it must impose similar burdens from one end of the province to the other, irrespective of creed, color or the fact of being resident within corporate limits, and those corporate limits the creation of the same power that imposes this, to our mind, differential tax. This decision will impose a heavy burden upon the civic revenues of this city which, although a heavy rate of taxation is now being levied, have not sufficient funds to keep the present streets in proper order and open up those that have become indispensably necessary. The public schools of Nanaimo are open alike to those residing outside. In fact the Nanaimo city school district extends far beyond the boundaries of the city. Why then should this increased taxation be thrown solely upon the citizens within the corporate limits? We may be obtuse and no doubt will be dubbed as "only a wretched newspaper man," yet the decision of the Chief Justice in our opinion does not in the least produce argument in favor of the justice and fairness of the impost. We are not aware that it is the intention to carry this question higher and test the validity of the Chief Justice's decision, but it is certain that it becomes a terrible discriminating power in the hands of a provincial parliament.

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of Movements of Well Known Persons.

Hon. Edgar Dewdney has returned to Ottawa.

W. Barnes was a passenger by the Olympian this morning, en route to Portland, where will visit the industrial exhibition.

C. Harry Hastings, Mrs. Scott-Siddons' northwest manager, went to Vancouver this morning, where he will make arrangements for the appearance of that lady before a Vancouver audience.

Mr. D. Gordon, V. S., respecting whom a very complimentary reference was made in our Ottawa correspondence published on Monday, is a brother of Mr. Ben Gordon, of this city. Mr. Gordon and family are now on their way to this city.

J. H. Todd returned for the mainland last evening.

A. S. Farwell is in the city.

Geo. Williscroft, of Fort Simpson, left this morning for Portage la Prairie for an extended visit.

J. P. Coggswell and wife, prominent and wealthy residents of Oakland, Cal., are visiting the city.

Dr. Ferguson, M.P., for Wellington, left for home via the Sound this morning with Mrs. Ferguson and Miss Ferguson.

Heard on the Street.

It is reported that a well known and wealthy citizen of Victoria intends to establish a private banking firm in the near future. The scheme has been underway for some time and is said to be nearly ready for launching.

The Colquitz Affair.

It is understood that the corporation was served with an injunction to-day, to the effect that the flow of water down Colquitz stream was retarded by the dam at Beaver Lake, and asking that the water be allowed the natural course. The parties to the injunction are property holders along the stream.

Arrival of the Michigan.

The steamer Michigan, Capt. Killman, arrived to day at 12 o'clock from Portland. The steamer was detained three days in Astoria by rough weather, having left that port last night at 6 o'clock making the run to Victoria in eighteen hours. She has a considerable quantity of freight for Victoria merchants. After discharging freight here she will proceed to Nanaimo to-night and from thence to Vancouver, New Westminster and the Sound. Capt. Killman reports a very heavy sea, and a strong current on the way up, and after he had got out of Astoria harbor was almost inclined to put back again.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CARD OF THANKS.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, beg to return our sincere thanks to the members of the Victoria Fire Brigade for their prompt and able exertions in extinguishing the fire at 62 Second Street, last Sunday evening. We are satisfied that had they been five minutes later nothing could have saved the adjoining house (occupied by Mr. Berridge) nor its contents from destruction. We have also to thank the many gentlemen who so generously assisted in removing property out of the reach of the flames.

SOMETHING FOR FARMERS

—AND—

LAND OWNERS

—IN—

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Steel Barbwire, a perfect and efficient fence at a saving of one-third to one-half the cost of other fences; assures a perfect and indestructible fence which cannot be destroyed by fire, wind or flood. A double machine twisted strand of galvanized steel wire carrying steel barbs that prick smartly in contact, warning but not wounding the animals; it is a perfect stock fence adapted to all kinds of husbandry. The most venturesome stock respects Barbwire. It is a complete barrier to all trespassers; it wastes no soil; it harbors no enemies of the crops; it is in use by all the Railway Companies in Canada as the best and cheapest of all fence material. The Steel Barbwire has features possessed by no other style as will appear from a study of its form, and still better, by an experience of its use. The barbs are short and sharp, which is the most merciful; forms a compact grip upon the main wires; it cannot be disengaged by any amount of abuse. The barbs are needle pointed and project at right angles from the main wires and by inflicting a sharp prick instantly repels the animal without tearing the flesh. The steel barbs being needle-pointed does not invite cattle to rub and lean against the fence, as in the case of Buckthorn and Ribbon fences. The wires are twisted perfectly even which is one of the chief requirements for a perfect fence. The Barbwire is manufactured from the best Galvanized Steel Wire that can be produced. It will be found in its wide application to a variety of needs, it comes to him as a fence material ready to be applied as he may wish.
